

This holiday season, give the gift of knowledge.

Who needs another scented candle? Why not get your loved ones a gift that won't gather dust? A gift donation to Climanosco produces minimal waste and helps open climate science to the world. Climanosco is a community of citizens and scientists across the globe, working together to make climate science readily understandable and freely available to all. Making climate science accessible to more people means increasing the solutions to climate challenges. Now who wouldn't want a gift like that?

Join us in making climate science accessible to everyone. Learn about our mission and our 2017 fundraising campaign at: climanosco.org/give
